STORM RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF FOUR

This Section Visited By One of Heaviest Precipitations of the Year Late Saturday Night And Early Sunday Morning

THE LIST OF FATALITIES

Among Number Is Fernand Bastin, Employed At the Vesta No. 6 Mine, And Well-Known In This Borough — Formerly With Hotel Walfred

Shoppers at the various stores in Charleroi, and in fact people in general, were more or less deluged by one of the heaviest electrical rainstorms accompanied by a high wind, that has visited this section for some time. Jupiter Pluvius made his appearance in the afternoon and gave the community his respects, the downpour being sufficient to preclude the baseball game that had been scheduled between Bellevue and the Charleroi club. In a short time, Old Sol made his appearance and his piercing rays forecasted another storm of greater proportions, and the prophecy and foreboding proved true, for when the precipitation did come, there was no argument. Small streams were formed in the streets, and many people got a "soaking." One report is to the effect that lighting struck the plant of the Atlas Steel company, not now running, but this report lacks verification.

However, four persons came to their deaths in this county and in Greene county. Of this number three persons were burned to death at Davistown, Greene county, about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when lightning fired the home of George Thomas, while the fourth victim of the storm in this district was killed at Stockdale, when he picked up an electric wire, that had been knocked down during the storm and carried 2,200 volts

THE DEAD

Mrs. Margaret Thomas, aged 38, of Davistown, Greene county, wife of George Thomas, burned to death.

Mrs. Rachel Thomas, aged 82, of Davistown, Greene county, mother of George Thomas, burned to death.

Sheldon Thomas, aged six, of Davistown, Greene county, son of George Thomas, burned to death.

Fernand Bastin, aged 38, of Stockdale, instantly killed when he picked up a wire carrying 2,200 volts.

Fire, which destroyed the Thomas home located in Eastern Greene county, about half way between Mapletown and Davistown, is thought to have been started by lightning, which came into the house over the telephone wire. Thomas was awakened from his sleep. Seeing the flames he rushed from the house to get a bucket of water in an effort to put them out.

Thomas left doors standing open and the air sweeping through the rooms fanned the flames and they spread rapidly. The two women and the little boy were trapped in the upper portion of the residence when the fire swept up the stairway.

Thomas was burned in an effort to reach the upper portion of the house but he could not penetrate through the solid sheet of flame.

The Thomas house was a story and a half frame structure and was built in such a manner that the women and child, probably made frantic by their plight, did not make an effort to crawl through small windows and leap to

EMPLOYES ARE TO BE TRANSFERRED

Notice has been posted at the West Brownsville yards of the Pennsylvania railroad to the effect that 12 train crews now working out of West Brownsville will be transferred to Shire Oaks shops on July 1. At the same time there will be a 50 per cent reduction in the number of employes at the shops and roundhouse at West Brownsville. Superintendent H. J. Appleton was questioned regarding the matter during a conference at the Chamber of Commerce of Brownsville Wednesday and said that orders for the transfer were made necessary due to a depression in shipping.

LOCK NO. 4 MAN IS VICTIM OF OHIO STORM

The Vote Is On And McAdoo And Smith Factions Are in The Battle Royal; Real Action Is Expected To Start Tonight

Madison Square Garden, June 30.—No nominations have been made after the fourth ballot in the Democratic convention, leaders were discussing a recess after a few more ballots this afternoon until tonight, when the real fight between the McAdoo and Smith forces will be put on.

Both McAdoo and Smith show small gains on the fourth ballot, McAdoo reaching 443 and Smith 260.

Official totals of the fourth ballot: Total cast, 1098. Smith 260, McAdoo 443 3-5, Ralston 30, Robinson 19, Underwood 41 1-2, Filder 28, Bryan 19, Ritchie 21 1-2, John W. Davis 34, Governor Davis 29, Brown 9 9-10, Harrison 20 1-2, Saltsbury 6, Ferrith 30, Campson 1, Walsh 1, Black 45, Cox 59.

Three ballots failed to even so much as indicate a drift that would break the deadlock existing between the McAdoo and Smith forces. Smith showed a gain of from 241 on first to 255 1-2 on the third. McAdoo lost a few votes after the first ballot, but not anything to indicate any weakening, and with 18 condidates being voted, it was apparent that most of the favorite ones must be shaken off before there is anything tangible that would enable either of the leading candidates to claim an advantage.

Judge Rockwell, formerly McAdoo manager, predicted his candidate would show a marked gain on the fifth ballot.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—Now for the Democratic nominee.

Emerging from one of the most spectacular sessions in its history and after a full day given over to conferences and estimates of casualties, the Democratic convention resumed its labor this morning bent upon selecting a standard-bearer for the coming campaign.

Threats to reopen the fight on the platform by reconsidering the vote taken early Sunday morning apparently had been squelched over Sunday by the convention leaders. When the delegates started for the Garden today, they were anxious to start balloting for their ticket and bring the convention to a close.

Because the greatest interest and bitter feeling had been created over the Klan issue and because the so-

WORLD WAR VET KILLED IN OHIO

Robert J. Coulter, Who Has Been Making His Home At Lorain, Ohio, Reported Among Dead In Saturday Night's Storm

YOUNG MAN 30 YEARS OLD

Saw Active Service In France And Germany—Is Wellknown In Monessen And Charleroi; Resided With His Parents At One Period, In North Charleroi

John Coulter of Donner avenue, Monessen, brother of Robert Coulter of Lincoln avenue, Charleroi, received word early this morning that his son, Robert J. Coulter who has been making his home at Lorain, Ohio, for the past four years, had been reported killed in the storm which swept through that section of the state Saturday night. His name appeared in the casuality list of the Pittsburgh Gazette Times this morning. The father left on the first train out of Pittsburgh this morning to verify the report.

Robert, 30 years of age, is an ex-soldier, having served in active service in France and Germany during the World war and since his discharge from the army, he has been employed at Lorain. He is a wellknown young man of Monessen and Charleroi, and for a number of years resided with his parents at North Charleroi where he attended the public schools. He was employed in the Pittsburgh Steel company, Monessen, before the war.

Besides his father, the deceased is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Chas. Martin of Belle Vernon, Mrs. William Aiken of Steubenville, Ohio, Mrs. Jacob Weiss, of Monessen, and three brothers. Charles and Andrew at home, and William of Detroit.

Man Struck By An Automobilist May Not Recover From Hurts

James Houseman, better known as "Oatsy," aged 52 years, was struck and severely injured by a Buick touring car near the Methodist Episcopal church, State street, Belle Vernon, Saturday night, about 9:30 o'clock, while he was on his way to the home of his sister. Just as the man was crossing the street, the car approaching at a high rate of speed, struck and knocked Houseman down, and the driver proceeded on his way without stopping to assist the man, who may be fatally injured. The injured man sustained a severe gash on the head and probably suffers internal injuries.

A vain effort was made to secure the license number of the fleeting car by those who witnessed the accident, but the car was out of sight in a few seconds. The man was taken to the home of his sister.

The police departments of the immediate vicinity have been notified to be on the lookout for the car.

West Pike Run Board To Invest Bequest Made

Upon the petition of the school directors of West Pike Run township that board has been given authority by the court to take and invest a certain bequest from the estate of the late George W. Deems, of that township, and when there has accumulated sufficient funds from the investment to use it as set forth in his will.

George W. Deems, out of the proceeds of the sale of his farm in that township, directed that $2,000 be paid to the school district of that township the income of which was to be used in conducting a two months' summer school at the Deems school, where Mr. Deems as a boy was educated. The farm was sold and there has been held by the executors of the estate of Mr. Deems the money due to the district, less the inheritance tax.

It as a question with the board what to do in the matter, since the sum was such that its income would not be sufficient to conduct the school as provided in the paragraph of the will authorizing the bequest. It was therefore decided, after consideration of the matter, to seek authority from the court to take the money and invest it and allow the income to accumulate for a time.

Under an agreement, which the court has approved, the Charleroi Savings & Trust Co., will take charge of the fund and hold it in trust for the district and eventually for the purpose for which it was left by Mr. Deems.

Firemen To Inaugurate Their Big Bazaar By Parade Tonight

This week is the big firecracker week—holiday week and the Charleroi firemen, ever looking to the interests and pleasure of the community people, inclusive of Charleroi, are putting on a bazaar. This evening the bazaar, which will be held at the confluence of McKean avenue and Fifth street, on the open space of ground contiguous to the Pennsylvania depot, will be formally inaugurated by the parade of firemen from this section, amplified by civic and fraternal societies, the burgess, and members of the borough council and the police force in line.

The booths at the grounds have been beautifully and artistically arranged, in keeping with the holiday appearance of the entire town. These booths will contain articles of a useful and ornamental nature. One of the features during the week will be the appearance nightly of Sully, Rodgers and Sully, expert acrobats.

LORAIN HAS 59 KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Lorain, Ohio, June 30.—Amidst the shattered wreckage of her northern towns and villages, Ohio today sought the full death toll from the ten-minute tornado which devastated Lorain and Sandusky and caused approximately 80 deaths late Saturday.

Bayonets of National Guardsmen gleamed among the ruins here, visible evidence of the martial law imposed in the wake of the storm to check vandalism and the threatened spread of smallpox.

As though artillery duels of Flanders had swept the lake front, trees lay uprooted, houses in tangled heaps, roads impassable, church steeples toppled, while through the area of destruction war-eyed relatives, escorted by armed soldiery, still sought piteously for missing relatives and friends.

Lorain bore the full brunt of the sudden storm which hopped about crazily Saturday evening, striking first at Attica, then leaping to Sandusky, to Lorain, and spending its fury across the orchards of West Lover and Avon.

With the coming of daylight today, search for the bodies of more victims believed buried in the ruined buildings was removed, while a list of the injured being cared for in hospitals at Cleveland, Lorain, and Elyria had mounted to 300. How many were treated in private homes it still was impossible to estimate.

Property damage at Lorain amounted to approximately $30,000,000, while imposition of curfew showed some 5,000 homeless.

Brigadier General J. R. McQuigg, bivouacked with his Cleveland troops in the public square here was in military command of the city. Gov. Donahey was on the scene to organize and direct relief and reconstruction. The governor was to announce today whether he would ask the state emergency board for an appropriation.

Seven were killed at Sandusky, where the tornado, with an earsplitting roar, cut a swath half a mile wide as it swept through the city to the bay. Property damage there was in the millions, with 200 to 500 homeless and a dire threat of fire and pestilence looming as a result of the crippling of Sandusky's water supply.

BOROUGH TO HAVE CARNIVAL

The second annual street carnival of the East Bethlehem Volunteer Fire department will open at Fredericktown Thursday evening, July 3. The opening feature will be a booster parade, in which will be represented Fredericktown organizations and citizens. The recently organized Boy Scouts will make their initial appearance in their new uniform. Two Fredericktown bands will furnish music.

An all- day program has been arranged for the Fourth. A parade, two Milfred A. C.-Vestaburg baseball games, and an extensive program of sports will occupy the day. In the evening the most elaborate display of fireworks in the history of Fredericktown will be in order.

The last night, July 5, there will be a parade of visiting fire companies. Firemen from many surrounding towns will have places in the parade. A band will accompany the Monesesn fire fighters. The firemen's parade will start at 7:30 Each evening the firemen will conduct a street carnival. Many booths will enliven the streets and from pre-carnival indications this year's will be superior to last year's which was a complete success.

DEMARCO, BEATING BERNSTEIN, WINS ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT BATTLES

The New Haven Journal-Courier of Tuesday, has the following to say regarding the fight between Cuddy DeMarco of Charleroi and Jack Bernstein of Yonkers:

"The greatest boxing show ever seen in this city," was the consensus of opinion of the 3,000 fans who witnessed the card put on last night by the Nutmeg club at its River street stadium. From the first bell of the opening bout to the final gong of the evening there was hardly a dissenting voice raised, all the bouts being all that the advance dope said they would be, and a little more added for good measure.

The star bout of the evening furnished two surprises, one being that it was a hard fought bout staged on its merits, and the other that Cuddy DeMarco won Referee McCarty's decision at the termination of the 12 rounds. Some of the fans were skeptical about two top-notchers like these boys coming here, figuring they might attempt a hippodrome, but the bout was far removed from that. As a matter of fact, there wasn't even any of the customary "feeling out" in the first round. The boys came out of their corner, and after both jabbed with their lefts they started right in mixing at a furious clip, all of which was to their credit and contrary to what had been expected in some quarters.

DeMarco's victory was earned, there was no doubt about that. It had been expected that the clean-cut Pittsburgher would be "duck soup" for the clever Bernstein, but the former junior lightweight champion had his hands full all evening. From the start of the bout DeMarco used his right hand to good advantage, getting in many telling blows that offset by a mile the puny little jabs sent in by Bernstein. Seconds in Bernstein's corner warned him continually between the rounds to be careful of that right hand, and he was. There is a stick of dynamite in that starboard mitt of DeMarco's and after Bernstein had tasted it a couple of times he took pains to avoid it after that.

Bernstein attempted to box with DeMarco but he couldn't get anywhere and between the first and second rounds his manager advised him to cut out that style and go out and slug with Cuddy. Bernstein looked better at that style and made the second round even after DeMarco had taken the honors in the first.

In the third frame Bernstein won the disfavor of the crowd through his unorthodox and illegal tactics. He uncovered every trick of the game in his mix-ups at short range and showed a few he undoubtedly had invented himself. There was a fine assortment of "heeling," "burning," elbow work and other means of attempting to separate DeMarco's nose from his face and it was surprising that he got away with it. All of this was going on at close range and it so provoked DeMarco that he started a little campaign of his own, the chief offense being holding Bernstein by the back of his neck and pulling his head down to his chest.

At infighting, Bernstein certainly is a wonder, hardly without a peer in his class today, but some of the methods he uses during those periods are questionable. Many expressed the opinion that Bernstein was carrying his tactics to a stage that bordered on dirty. However, Jack got started in royal style in the fourth and fifth and grabbed both rounds through his clever infighting. The next was even but the Smoky City youngster staged a great rally in the seventh and the eighth and won both rounds. He was so far ahead of Bernstein in the eighth that he continually beckoned to Bernstein to come in and fight, but Jack evidently thought better of it and stayed away, or at least, out of danger.

The ninth stanza wasn't so good, both appearing tired. DeMarco grabbed the tenth, Bernstein had a shade in the eleventh and the final round was even. Many of Bernstein's supporters yowled at the decision which went to DeMarco but to an unbiased observer, it was absolutely fair and just.

RAIN PREVENTED THE GAME HERE ON SATURDAY

Saturday, about an hour before the time scheduled for the game to start, Jupiter Pluvius, who it would seem, is no friend of "Matty's", descended to terra firma, thus precluding the contest between the Charleroi club and the Bellevue team.

Rain only descended for a short space of time, but enough to cover the home plate, the pitcher's box, and the field in miniature lakes and rivulets, and after inspecting the field, Manager Mathers called the contest off. The Bellevue club members were quartered at the Wellington hotel. Considerable disappointment was felt by the fans, who felt that the contest could have been staged; at least by 4 or 5 o'clock, as old Sol came out in all his splendor and heat.

PITTSBURGH KEEPS IT UP BY DEFEATING ST. LOUIS, SCORE 6-5

On Saturday Pittsburgh with Kremer, the Pacific coast phenom in the box, beat Chicago 3-0, thus taking the entire series of four games. Keen was on the mound for the Cubs, and held the Pirates to six bingles, while Kremer only allowed Chicago four hits.

Johnny Morrison was rushed to the rescue of Lee Meadows in the ninth inning at St. Louis yesterday afternoon and the jug-handle delivery put the lid upon a belated rally sprung by the Cardinals when Ray Blades knocked a home run with two bases occupied and came within one run of deadlocking the ball game. The score was 6 to 5 and the Pirates thus gained their seventh victory in a row, from third and four games from second place.

Leo Dickerman, the right-handed bean pole who formerly wore a Brooklyn uniform, was on the hill for the home side but he was removed in the eighth in order that Jim Bottomley might fly out in a pinch. Herman Bell, another orthodox hurler, finishing the contest.

Blades was not the only player to smite into the open stands for Glenn Wright whaled the pill into the same bleacher earlier in the contest and while the bases were empty on this occasion the blow brought hostilities to a standstill as the Cards already had counted twice and seized the lead.

Meadows and Dickerman had a pitchers' battle in which honors were pretty evenly divided. The bespectacled Buccaneer hurler performed some high class work after the second inning, holding the foe hitless from that stage until the final frame when he weakened. He had been touched for six safeties, three being bunched in round two and a similar number coming in the ninth.

The Moore Team To Play Here Tomorrow Evening At 5:45

Manager D. Cleve Mathers said this forenoon that he had contracted for the Moore Athletics, a traveling organization of colored players, who will be the attraction at the Charleroi Baseball park tomorrow evening at 5:45 o'clock.

The Moore team comes here bearing high recommendations as to ability as players, and the contest promises to be first class. Mr. Mathers has signed a new catcher and a new second baseman, both of whom will be seen for the first time here in the lineup. Beatty will pitch for Charleroi.

TOO MUCH DISHONESTY.

We see where the National Chamber of Commerce at Washington has launched a movement to induce business men of the country to be a little more sincere, or—in plain words—a little more honest in the methods they use and the claims they make to sell goods. Those who have anything to market are urged to observe the golden rule and to think more of the interests of the people who are using and paying for the goods than of their own profits.

In spite of the pure food laws and the watchful eyes of Uncle Sam, there is a vast amount of misrepresentation. Containers are put up with false bottoms, fruit is packed with the best specimens on top and there are all sorts of tricks for misleading the buying public. Already there is an organization working to put a stop to furniture misrepresentation. They have found some dealers selling "walnut" and "mahogany" when investigation showed the material to be birch or gum stained to imitate the costlier woods. One dealer justified his course by saying that his competitor does the same thing, but that didn't give back the money he had taken through misrepresentation. Efforts are also being made to get the textile goods stamped on the back as to show whether they are made of silk, virgin wool, shoddy, cotton or mixtures. Such a law would be a public blessing.

Merchants in Charleroi are honest, but they are apt to be imposed upon by manufacturers. When the goods are passed on to you the merchant should not be blamed if they are afterward found to be faulty. Your merchant sold them to you on representations made to him. But if home merchants will not stop there but will join with other merchants all over the country in reporting cases of misrepresentation dishonest tradesmen would soon be put out of business.

THE OFFICE CAT

We haven't a great deal of faith in the bookkeeping of a cashier who combs his hair over the bald spot.

Speaking of a sure thing, I heard the other day of a merchant who, during the recent severe cold spell, bought a large stock of thermometers, knowing that they would soon go up.

No wonder oil leads to trouble. A Pennsylvania farmer once said if the Creator had wanted oil holes in the ground, he would have dug 'em.

Desk mottoes haven's changed the course of the world very much.

The reason an article costs $10 more is because the material in it now costs 13 cents more and the labor nine cents more.

The much-talked-of "genuine dirt farmer" must find himself quite at home in Washington.

SCOUT DUFFLE BAG

BY H. S. HALL,
Scout Executive.

Courts of Honor.

Each town is concentrating on the Court of Honor program to award the boys for their tests passed, before the camp season opens. The first Court of Honor was held in Monongahela City, June 20, before which six boys appeared to be reviewed on their second class tests and two of the oldest Scouts in our Council appeared for Merit badges. Charleroi held their Court of Honor session Thursday, June 26. A parade was staged before the meeting, and after awarding 45 boys with their Second Class badges, short talks were given the boys by Scout Executive Mr. Hall, and also by the members of the Court of Honor Committee. Monessen will hold their meeting, Wednesday, July 2, and it is expected that about 30 boys will be ready to appear for review.

Scoutmasters' Committee Complete.

The Scoutmasters' Committee on Activities and Leadership Training has been completed. This committee is composed of four Commissioners appointed by the Scout Executive, and four Scoutmasters, one from each town, elected by the Scoutmasters' Round Table. The following compose the committee: Rev. A. Johnson, Monongahela Scout Commissioner, Chairman; Mr. O. M. Wise, Scout Commissioner, Charleroi; K. F. Sterritt, Scout Commissioner, Monessen; Arthur Kohnfelder, Scout Commissioner, of Donora; Scoutmasters W. F. Blackburn of Monessen; Thos. Ludwig of Charleroi; John A. Murray of Donora; and John McIsaac of Monongahela. The duties of this committee is to plan a yearly program of activities for the four towns, in which each town will co-operate, such as Championships, Jamborees, Rallies, and other diversions of this type. They will also outline training courses for the Scout Leaders. A program is now being worked out, whereby each Troop will submit a monthly report of activities and Troop records, which will be marked and rated, and the Troops will be kept up to the standard. The Troop with the highest rating each month will be given the Commissioners' Banner, and the Troop holding the banner the longest period during the year will be designated the most advanced Troop in the Council, and will be awarded a special trophy.

Camp Plans.

Camp plans are being rapidly outlined and will be announced in the very near future. The Camp Committee at its last session began plans for a real live camp, from July 21 to August 18. Several new features have been added to the program this year, as well as quite a bit of new camp equipment, which will provide for more comfortable camping. The date at which all camp registrations must be in has been set at July 14.

called political "bosses" — George Ohio, and the New York delegation leaders—had stirred up so much smoke over the subject it was somewhat subdued group of men who conferred Sunday after their defeat and mapped out the final snuffler on McAdoo's hopes.

Brennan is chastened by the defeat of the Klan plank. His confident predictions that it would have at least 200 majority, rise to taunt him in his efforts to nominate Al Smith. But he also is mad. He's very disgruntled at Tom Taggart of Indiana. And it might be said with a good measure of surety that Brennan will no sooner support Samuel M. Ralston for the nomination than he will W. G. McAdoo. This being the case, the stock of Ralston as the dark horse has fallen away materially over Sunday.

the ground. The charred remains of the victims were found yesterday in the ruins of the dwelling. Nothing was saved, a small outbuilding, also being consumed. Charity Thomas, aged eight, made her escape with her father.

During a lull in the storm, Fernand Bastin, and William Graeser, burgess of Stockdale, were making their way to their homes. As they neared the Stockdale railroad station, an electric wire fell in front of them. Thinking to save other pedestrians from possible death by stepping on the wire, Bastin wrapped a handkerchief around his hand and picked the wire up to throw it to one side of the street. He crumpled to the ground, dying almost instantly.

Bastin, who was employed at the Vesta No. 6 mine, was wellknown in Charleroi and vicinity, having been employed as bartender for a number of years at the Hotel Walfred, Charleroi. He was a member of the Charleroi Eagles club. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Anderson Bastin, five children, his mother, Mrs. Josephine Demierbe, of California, Pa., one brother, Amel, in Montana, and three sisters, Mrs. Desire Brison and Mrs. Charles Brigode, of Charleroi, and Mrs. Harry Delbar, of California.

The roof of the [illegible] the storm and the walls collapsed. Workmen have been laboring since yesterday in an effort to recover the cars from the wreckage.
